Will Be An Annual Event Hereafter

What is, beginning on Saturday evening, June 24, to be one of Carmel's big annual events, is the Fire Department ball.

This affair deserves the support of every resident and non-resident property owner of the community.

The young men who are members of the organization have joined it out of a sense of civic duty—to save life and property. They work without pay or hope of reward.

There is not a town in the country, having a fire department, that does not have its yearly ball, and the entire community boosts for it.

The money derived from the affair will be used to further the efficiency of the department.

Mrs. Clarissa Dixon Dead

Many in Carmel will be grieved to learn of the death of Mrs. Clarissa Dixon, mother of Henry Cowell. She passed away on May 15, at Menlo Park. Mrs. Dixon was a gifted woman, being a teacher, writer and lecturer. She resided here for some time.

Graduating Exercises and Standardization

The 1916 graduates from the Sunset School are as follows:

Gertrude Martha Gates.
Miriam Arnold White
Rebecca Delfina Narvaez
Aldine Burton Anthony
Inez Cecelia Fraties
Gwendolen Viola Adams
Kenneth Edward Ward
Chas. Eric Wray DeVega

This morning, in addition to standardizing the local public school, which means that our school has attained the highest degree of efficiency, County Superintendent of Schools George Schultzberg will present to the above pupils diplomas of graduation.

The complete program for this morning's exercises, to which the public is invited, is here given:

1. Dramatization, "A Song of the Heart," class of the 4th grade
2. Song, "Woodland Echoes," Ruth Pudan
3. Old English Folk Song, primary grades.
4. Folk Dance (Danish), primary grades
5. Song, "May A Maying," primary grades
6. English Folk Dance, primary grades
7. Song, "Blue Bells of Scotland," grammar grades
8. Dramatization, "Lady of the Lake," grammar grades
9. Song, "My Heart's in the Highlands," grammar grades
10. Address, W. L. Overstreet
11. Standardizing School, County Superintendent George Schultzberg

Tomorrow evening, at Arts and Crafts Hall, the graduating class will hold a dance, and a large number will be present by invitation.

On Saturday afternoon, at the home of her aunt, Gwendolen Adams gave a social affair in honor of her graduating classmates.

A Truthful Yarn About Knitting Yarn

In the Pine Cone of May 10 a letter was published calling attention to the need, in Paris, of knitting wool to be used by the grandmothers there for darning socks for the soldiers. With the letter was published an appeal for funds.

"Pine Cone" publicity and individual effort enables Mrs. J. Clifford Woodhull, costodian of the fund, to report as follows:

Rec'd from hotel boxes,	$ 9.11
From Carmel residents,	40.89
Out of town subscriber,	25.00
Total - - - -	$75.00

Sent to New York for purchase of the yarn and shipment to Paris.

Can You Save $1000?

If you can, you become independent. The man who can deny himself often to acquire that amount has discovered the secret of wealth and how to acquire it.

An Evening With the Literary Masters

Walter Butler O'Connell, A. M. will give a dramatic reading under the patronage of the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts, on Friday evening, June 16, at Arts and Crafts Hall.

Mr. O'Connell is a graduate of the Jesuit University of Spokane, Washington. The nature of his work brings him before universities, colleges, clubs and educational bodies, as he specializes on the litefary masters. He has been coached by such well known pulpit orators as Fr. Thos. Meagher, S. J., noted missionary; Fr. Barrett, and the Most Rev. Archbishop Hanna of San Francisco. He also received special dramatic training under Mrs. N. P. Glann of the California Club, who is a graduate of the Anna Morgan School of Oratory of Chicago.

A letter of the late Mrs. Lovell White, President Emeritus of the California Club, says:

"Mr. O'Connell is dignified in manner, graceful in jesture, and his range of voice is seemingly unlimited. He recites and impersonates, yet his keynote is simplicity."

The Rev. Lynn P. White, Minister of the Presbyterian Church at San Rafael, says:

"Recently I heard Mr. O'Connell's recital, and I wish to say that his work reveals seriousness of purpose in its selections, marked conscientiousness in its preparation, and intelligence in its interpretation."

Mr. O'Connell is well known in Carmel literary circles, as he spent much time here some years ago, and took active part in dramatic work.

His readings are entirely from memory.

Opportunity in a Small Town

While it is easier to drift with the current than than to paddle a canoe against it, yet circumstances have much to do with bring out or supressing the latent talents of the individual. From many quarters comes combative argument against the prevailing opinion that business and professional men and women lack opportunity in small communities.

There are few in business or in the professions in small towns who do not think they could have achieved a greater measure of success by originally aligning their future with a large community. They look toward the city and see the glamor of the leaders, and see not the poverty-stricken failures.

National reputations can be and are acquired in country towns, and wealth also. There are the Mayo brothers of Rochester, Minn. They have made that little prairie town famous throughout the scientific world. It sticks out on the map like a metropolis, though not in the same sense.

The saying, that if you can produce a better rat trap than any one else, and live in the woods, the world will make a path to your door, holds good. There are pleny of the finest kinds of successes to be attained in a small town.

An Enjoyable Outing

Carmel's leading social organization, the Manzanita Club, the membership of which is made up of business men, mechanics, professional men, artists, and others, has again made good its reputation for doing things right.

Bright and early last Sunday morning the club members and their families assembled on Ocean avenue, and in response to the committeemen's "All aboard!" climbed into the automobiles and tallyhos provided for the occasion. Accompanied by several private vehicles, the entire party, numbering about seventy, proceeded to Point Lobos for a day's outing.

It was an outing long to be remembered, and for many reasons, and here are some of them:

Every man, woman and child had enough to eat.

It did'nt cost anyone a cent for anything.

Everyone had a seat going and coming.

Not an accident occured to mar the pleasure of anyone.

Several baseball stars of the feminine gender discovered.

It was the best get-together affair Carmel folks ever had.

Home for the Summer

Frederick Preston Search has returned, and in the interim of his concert trips, will spend the summer, as usual, in Carmel, in composing.

The young composer-cellist has had a busy year, holding positions as first cellist of the American Symphony Orchestra of Chicago, dean of the cello department of the Centralizing College of Music, conductor of the "Violinist," alternate conductor of the Studebaker Theatre orchestra, besides his concert work in many cities.

Quite a number of his larger compositions have been played by eminent orchestras this season.

It is probable that he will be heard in Carmel again in another of his beautiful recitals during the early summer.

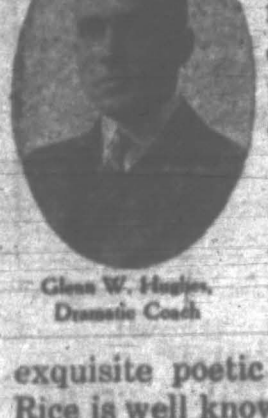
Preparing For The Summer Play

"Yolanda of Cyprus" by Cale Young Rice, the most important of this summer's Forest Theatre Society productions, has all of the qualities necessary for a beautiful and successful presentation. Sixteenth century Venetian in setting and style is not only new to the local stage but is distinctly appropriate.

The story that the play discloses is essentially a dramatic one. The situations are rapidly developed and tensely climaxed. A pure strain of Italian and Cyprian romance stands out boldly through the entire play.



Glenn W. Hughes, Dramatic Coach

Needless to say, the lines are delicately fashioned and hold bits of exquisite poetic fancy. Mr. Rice is well known throughout the East as one of America's best poets.

The play involves enough intrigue to supply obstacles worthy of thrills and gasps, yet the outcome presents a pleasant, though unusual, ending.

Every effort is being put forth to present an historically correct and delightfully colorful production. The cast is being chosen as rapidly as possible, and careful plans are fleing made for the building of the romantic castle within the walls of which the action of the play is unfolded.
